

Traffic was certainly up in our booth over last year, there seems to be a renewed interest across our entire line of boats. I felt there were many customers willing to discuss purchasing Yachts. I am optimistic we will have a strong season as a result of the fall boat shows.

Best,

Doug

While boat sales at the Annapolis Show were far from what we are used to experiencing, say, four years ago, we are extremely happy to report double digit retail sales this year. We realize that buying habits at the boat show by consumers have changed drastically over the years, in that less and less actually buy at the show, yet our dealers are very encouraged by the amount of solid leads that they acquired at this year's show and feel that they will see more sales happen in the coming weeks and months as a result of the show.

Thanks,

Show was great and your people are great (always looking and asking is everything ok)

Bavaria Yachts USA had a great introduction of the new Cruiser line designed by Farr Yacht Design. One cannot ask for a better stage or show for pulling in the North American market to one location than the USSshow and their crew.

Well done
