Mike Horn's Pangaea Expedition

Internationally renowned adventurer Mike Horn will discuss the Pangaea expedition which shows youth leaders the pristine beauty of the planet. By inspiring these motivated teenagers, Mike is creating a global network of united young people to share their experiences and use their knowledge to make a difference in their own communities. Mike will share some of his experiences with you during this hour-long seminar.

The History of Navigation: Then and Now

Join Peter Trogden, owner & president of Weems & Plath, on a journey through the 4,000 year evolution of marine navigation highlighting the world's greatest explorers and famous inventors who developed navigation instruments.

Marine Diesel Basics

Captain John Martino, from the Annapolis School of Seamanship, will run through the basics of marine diesel engines and troubleshooting some common problems.

Get Your Captain's License

Between the USCG requirements for sea time, physicals, applications and examination, getting a captain's license can seem daunting. Annapolis School of Seamanship's Captain Paul Truelove will discuss the ins and outs of getting your captain's license from beginning to end.

Radar & Collision Avoidance

Boating accidents are usually preventable. Captain John Martino will discuss how to avoid collisions underway including the use of RADAR, AIS, VHF and ARPA.

Attitude...Ordeal or Adventure

Bob Bitchin, world cruiser and founder/publisher of Lati- tudes & Attitudes Magazine, is living proof that attitude makes all the difference when it comes to cruising.

Cruising the Chesapeake Bay

Autumn offers a spectacular range of cruising opportunities here in Bay country. From bird watching to fall festivals, Chesapeake Bay Magazine editor-at-large Janie Meneely will give you an update on where to go and what to do this season on the Chesapeake Bay.

10 Things They Never Tell You about the Cruising Life

George Day is the publisher of Blue Water Sailing magazine. In the 90's he spent five years circumnavigating west about with his wife Rosa and their two sons, Simon and Tim aboard their Mason 43 Clover. Together the Days have sailed some 60,000 miles together.

Power Management: Staying Charged-Up Away from the Dock

With all the gear and gadgets on a modern sailboat, managing your electrical system is the key to keeping everything working while you're away from the dock. Bob Campbell, of Marine Electric Systems, explains how to balance your battery capacity, charging sources and loads while cruising.

Marine Weather for Sailors

Renowned marine meteorologist Lee Chesneau will familiarize sailors with the elements of marine weather, accessing sources for marine forecasts and how to use the information at hand to help make safe decisions.

Electronic Navigation

Ralph Naranjo, Electronics Editor of Sail Magazine, will discuss GPS, the Galileo satellite system and how to interface radar, fathometer, AIS as well as other electronic data streams into a comprehensive big picture. In addition to hearing how different systems operate and what's on the market today, learn why keeping paper charts and publications still makes sense.

Start Sailing Now

Want to go sailing but don't know where to start? Spin-Sheet magazine editor, Molly Winans will set you on the right course with a seminar and interactive panel discussion of industry experts.

The Gulf Stream: Structure & Strategies

Crossing the gulf Stream or even going with the flow requires some knowledge and preparation. Frank Bohlen, oceanographer and experienced blue water sailor, shares his expertise in the physical characteristics of this spectacular boundary current and how to use the information for voyage planning.

Outfitting for Blue Water Cruising

Come and see Pam Wall's educational seminar on "Outfitting for Bluewater Cruising". Learn from Pam and her families' experiences while sailing across the oceans. Along with the obvious little products that are so important, Pam gives knowledgeable and practical ideas on how to make your boat easier to handle, safer and more fun to sail!

Cruising the ICW

Whether you're heading for Key West or the Great Loop, one leg of the voyage is generally the Intracoastal Waterway (ICW). Professional captain and liveaboard cruiser Paul Truelove will lead a discussion about the joys and pitfalls of cruising inland waters.
